SAMPLE — SYNTHETIC DATA, NOT REAL COMPANIES

Generated 2026-07-01 · United Kingdom · scoring model v0.1.0

This report is compiled exclusively from official public-register data (Companies House, UK). Processing relies on legitimate interest in prioritising business-development research. Scores are prioritisation aids, not predictions. Director ages appear only as bands, never as exact ages or dates of birth.

Methodology

A score indicates statistical similarity to typical pre-succession profiles. It is not a claim that any company or person intends to sell.

Director age (up to 40 pts). Companies House publishes director birth month and year. We award points when the oldest active director is past typical retirement-planning age, ramping from 55 to a maximum at 65+. Ages are computed conservatively from month/year only and reported solely as five-year bands. Age alone proves nothing about intent — it is a demographic prior, nothing more.

Sole or family control (20 pts). A single active director, or a board sharing one surname, suggests ownership is concentrated in one person or family — the situations where succession has no institutional answer. Shared surnames are an imperfect proxy: unrelated namesakes and differently-named relatives both occur.

No heir signal (15 pts). If no director under 45 has been appointed in the last five years, there is no visible next generation on the board. An heir may exist outside the register; this signal only reflects what the public record shows.

Company age (up to 10 pts). Businesses trading 25+ years are more likely to be founder-generation owned. Ramp from 15 to 25 years of age.

Stability (10 pts). Points for a clean Active status with no strike-off proposal or insolvency markers — a target must be a going concern to be worth a conversation.

Recent events (5 pts). A registered-address or auditor change in the last 18 months can accompany advisory or restructuring activity. This is the weakest signal and scored accordingly; where filing-history data is unavailable it contributes zero.
